A horse dealer of this city was before a magistrate yesterday for a hearing on a charge of false pretense. ## THE COTTON FACTORY.

It is Now One of the Interesting Places of the City.

One of the interesting places of Raleigh is the new cotton factory. The machinery is arriving by the car load, and a number of experts are at work putting it in position.

It is interesting to watch the placing of the great engine which is to furnish the motive power. It is gigantic in size, and a beauty in construction. The factory floors are full of curious-looking, intricate machinery, brilliantly painted, and presenting a kaleidoscopic appearance as the eye takes it in.

It is all being put in position as rapidly as possible, and it will not be long before its merry business-sounding hum will be heard.

Last night the evangelist, Rev. F. L. Smith, gave a short Bible reading on "Assurance," after which testimonials were given by the Christians present. The threatening clouds kept away the crowd, but those who came felt repaid for their coming.

Copy From the Minutes of the Board of Directors of the Citizens' National Bank.

Resolutions of respect for the memory of Wm. E. Anderson, late President of the Citizens' National Bank of Raleigh.

We, the Directors of the Citizens' National Bank of Raleigh, N. C., moved by a profound sense of our loss and that of William E. Anderson, who had been our associate so long and the President of the bank since its organization nearly twenty years ago, and of whose excellent qualities of head and heart we had become cognizant by daily official and personal intercourse, do with hearty sorrow, but with heads bowed in submission to that hand which so often takes the most worthy first, adopt the following resolutions:

First: That the bank by the removal of President Anderson from this scene of his labors, has lost an officer whose financial ability was of high order, whose integrity was unswerving, whose devotion to duty was constant and never failing, even to the moment when he fell unconscious at his desk to linger for a few hours and die with his harness on, and whose courtesy to all who had business dealings with him or with the bank was such that they and through them, nearly the whole community regarded him with the kindness of personal friendship.

Second: That to each of us and to every officer and employee of the bank his absence will be a source of great and lasting regret as that of a dear friend, and that his pleasing face, his kindly greeting, his cheerful conversation, often at once playful and instructive, his tender consideration for the rights and feelings of others, his fulness of that charity which "suffereth long and is kind," and his unreserved, almost affectionate manner with us in our daily association, will be ever pleasant memories to each and all of us.

Third: That we devote a page of our journal to these proceedings, and direct that a copy of them be sent to the widow of our deceased friend, with assurances of our deepest sympathy with her in her great affliction.

The University Alumni.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, the revenue agent who was shot near Hillsboro, has returned to this place from his trip to Baltimore for medical aid and surgery. He is totally blind and has no hope of recovering his sight. This is a terrible result of official duty for the United States. He should be pensioned, and we understand proper steps will be taken in that direction.—Greensboro State.

Mr. Henry keeps a store at the depot in Statesville. Last Monday night, the watchman, Wm. Rickart, caught three tramps, one negro and two white men in the store. He bagged the whole crowd and locked them in a box car where he kept them until Tuesday morning, when he marched them to jail. That same day they were arraigned in court and found guilty. Yesterday the judge sentenced each of them to a term of five years in the penitentiary. This was quick work all around.—Charlotte News.

THE WORLD'S COMMERCE.

NEW YORK, May 24.—Messrs. Hubbard, Price & Co. in their cotton circular to-night say: The holiday in Liverpool to-day, and the absence of any advices from that market, has left the trading here unaffected by any foreign influences, and the result has been a narrow and comparatively quiet market, the disposition to liquidate long cotton having resulted in a slight decline in the summer positions, August selling as low as 12.26. From this there was a slight recovery, but the close is feeble and the tendency evidently towards the liquidation of long cotton.

Receipts at our ports to date estimated at 800 bales, against 1,394 bales last week.

W. H. & R. S. TUCKER & Co.

Is Oxford Improvement stock good? Certainly! What is it based upon? On 500 acres of land lying in and adjoining the town of Oxford; on 400 acres more suburban property, controlled by the company, and on the 500 acres of mineral lands and also fine bright tobacco lands, upon which the company has options.

How much stock is there? Three thousand shares of $50 each. And lots are given away? To each holder of two shares a lot of 50x150 feet will be given. Where will these lots lie? In desirable parts of the land right at the town and on continued and parallel streets. Will these lots be worth the price paid for the stock? Yes.

Every holder of two shares gets a lot? Yes, except the original subscribers. By resolution of the board of directors they excluded themselves from this privilege for the benefit of other subscribers.

Why was the company started? To advance Oxford, make it the pride of the Golden Belt, and to make money for the share-holders.

Will it succeed? It will. 1500 lot-holders will not let it sleep. Tobacco is as good to make a town of as iron. It employs more hands. It is a luxury that is a necessity, and trade may be ever so dull, but the world will chew and smoke.

How do you pay for it? $10 down, balance in five when called for, not oftener than once a month. And the doubting Thomases who had bought Arizona deserts and Florida swamps without a question, said you make me a receipt for a few shares; make it four or six. I don't care. I take it for the baby. And in that way he got even on his outside investments.

W. C. Reed, Secretary, Oxford, N. C., gives full information, or Walter Borden, Raleigh, N. C.
